Agropyron, see Plant Genetics.
Allen, Gordon, Differences Between Fraternal Twins, 262.
Alopecia, A Dominant Mutation in the House Mouse, Margaret M. Dickie, 31.

Animal Genetics:
Artificial Breeding and Livestock Improvement, (Rev.), 71.
Budworm, spruce, sex-linked and sex-limited character, 263.
Chinchilla, heritability of body weight, 251.
Drosophila: chromosomal variation in Chilean populations, 59; effects of X-ray on fecundity and fertility, 177; shape variation in spermatheca, 271.
Ducks lay radioactive eggs, 212.
Effects of radiation and other deleterious agents on embryonic development, 291.
Genetics of Population Structure, (Rev.), 57.
Grasshopper: a translocation heterozygote, 157; study of cell division by phase microscopy, 245; tibial color, 302.
Honey bee: lethal series of alleles, 72; binucleate eggs, 156.
Inbreeding, experimental results, 105.
Mice: ducky, a new recessive mutation, 27; alopecia, a mutation that affects the deposition of the normal hair coat, 31; inbred strain used for study of cancer of the testis in humans, 40; mosaic, 47; ataxia, a mutation affecting locomotion, 77; luxoid, a leg and foot abnormality, 91; high and low blood-pH lines, 125; effects of X-radiation and infrared on mammary cancer, 135; postaxial polydactyly, 144; strain differences in uterus response to estrogens, 190; physiological differences in uteri of obese stock, 209; cordovan, a new allele of black and brown color, 293; male influence on sex ratio of high and low blood-pH lines, 277.
Quantitative genetics and animal breeding, 86.
Rabbit: domestic crossed with cottontail, 41; manifestations of regional growth at onset of vertebral ossification, 183; viability of dominant white, 266.
Rat: shaker, cowlick and naked mutations, 9; linkage in the third chromosome, 84; mitosis in tumor cells studied by phase microscopy, 245.
Turkey: parthenogenetic embryonic tissue, 133; inheritance of spotted plumage, 285.
Wasp, triple eye-color alleles, 270.

Annan, Murvel E., X-Ray Induced Impairment of Fecundity and Fertility of Drosophila robusta females, 177.
Apomixis in Black Pepper and Jojoba?, H. S. Gentry, 8.
Apple, see Plant Genetics.
Artificial Breeding, R. M. Melampy, (Rev.), 71.
Ashman, R. B. and W. S. Boyle, A Cytological Study of the Induced Octoploid of an Agropyron-Hordeum Hybrid, 297.
Asmundson, V. S., Inheritance of Spotting in the Plumage of Turkeys, 285.
Ataxia—A New Recessive Mutant of the House Mouse, Mary F. Lyon, 77.
